Campaign 1

Goal: To tap into the artistry within the Southeast Asian diaspora community.

We have met so many incredible artists and writers through PYD, and we feel so proud to be able to be a platform that showcases the immense creativity this community has. Submissions that fall into this campaign are often inspired by themes such as history, identity, culture, code-switching, memories, and more. Past submissions include:

- old photos
- videos
- class projects
- college personal statements
- essays
- paintings
- poetry
- narrative pieces

Campaign 2

Goal: To shed light onto the diversity, beauty, pain, and spirit of the Southeast Asian American community through interviews.

The mission of PYD is to share and highlight the histories, experiences, and voices of the Southeast Asian diaspora, and one of the best ways is to have deep and meaningful conversations with people. For this campaign, we encourage people to interview those around them, or to respond to the questions themselves. Our staff at PYD has also been going around speaking to educators, relatives, colleagues, artists, and each other, and we have had the privilege of meeting the most amazing people, many of whom are doing critical work in the community. We have interview question templates available in the Resources section of our website. You can also contact us if you would like us to interview you!

We'd love to hear your story.
